Honor the search

William Makis is a physician who would not stop looking when the standard chair felt too small. That is courage. It is not a protocol. It is not a reason to leave the oncologist. Joe Tippens is next — the patient door. Fenbendazole stays that map. This page does not reprint a stack.

Names vs generation was Current #15. A molecule that changes a mill’s job is literacy. A dose table is not the Program. Eat is still the plate.

A search is not a prescription

His layer	Not this page
A physician who kept searching.	A Foundation drug list.
Courage named. The chair stays.	Fenbendazole, ivermectin, or any dose table.
Tippens keeps the patient door — #90.	A reason to skip licensed oncology.
Correction remains the how — #52.	A Substack protocol we adopt.

What the layer taught

If a chair keeps searching, thank the search. Then sit with the licensed helper who knows your body. Do not copy a feed onto the nightstand.

How you keep it

Keep Eat. Keep the oncologist you hired. If a question is a molecule someone named on the internet, take it to someone licensed who knows you. Liver injury is a real weather. Do not invent a protocol here.

Be brave enough to honor a search without swallowing the stack

You are not behind if you never opened that page. You are not too late. Your mills are still minting every second of every day. Feed them. The search is a layer. It is not Tuesday.

The question

Will you honor a physician who kept searching — and still keep the oncologist in the chair? The answer is yours. You can take it. You can leave it. No one can take it for you.

If you take it, eat tonight. That is Makis, kept as a search — not as a stack.

If you want to keep learning, keep flowing with our Currents. Joe Tippens is next.

Notes

- This is education. It does not diagnose, treat, or claim to cure cancer. It does not print fenbendazole, ivermectin, or any other dose table.
- It does not replace your physician, your oncologist, your medications, or the care you already have. Do not add, stop, or delay licensed oncology from this page.
- If a question is about a tumor in your own body, take it to a licensed professional who knows that chair. Reported liver injury with some off-label molecules is a hard stop to self-dosing.
- The Foundation does not sell Panacur, Safeguard, Onco Adjunct, or a Makis protocol. Joe Tippens remains Current #90. Public language stays Metabolic Correction.
